

Norah Jones, Moon Song

Want to find out where the moon goes
When it leaves the western sky
And night dissolves again to morning
Azure turns to gold
Azure turns to gold

Gonna sleep with one eye open
Gonna leave the shades half drawn
Nearly silent dressed in shadows
Lines and colors fall
Lines and colors fall

Gonna watch her through the window
Just as I watched you before
Smile knows but just won't tell me
I just watch her go
I just watch her go

Now I know just where the moon goes
When it leaves the western sky
And night dissolves again to morning
The moon is in your eyes
The moon is in your eyes
The moon is in your eyes
The moon is in your eyes