

NRG, It

Every day every day I grow weary of the same repetition
Every night as I toss and turn in bed with loneliness, my sighs fall heavily to the floor
My heart wants to collapse; it searches for me every night
But I have a dream I believe I will try never give up oh no
Increase the volume and sing a song; shout loudly for once
Dont look back; you should only look ahead; ask the wind that wipes your tears
Run like crazy down the road; dont think
Start again wherever my heart takes me; its alright just live once
Im always laughing but strangely my heart is so cold
I swallow everything with a smile but oddly Im filled with sadness
I want to give up my heart but without permission it searches for me
But I have a dream I believe I will try never give up oh no
Increase the volume and laugh loudly; life is like that
Waiting for a new day where anything can happen fills me with anticipation
Cry as much as you want when youre sad, without worrying what others think
Stand up again wherever my heart takes me; its alright for my dream for my dream