

Nural, Forgive Me

I share the burdens carried on the heart of one in need knowing,
I'm weighed down as well
And I don't question my direction but intentions for this saving
Slowly losing this heart

And now what have I done?
My reach, falling short just when you needed me
And I won't bring myself to care
Forgive me, I rely on my own knowing
And we see where it's takin' me

I share the burdens carried on the heart of one in need knowing,
I'm weighed down as well
And I don't question my direction but intentions for this saving
Slowly losing this heart

And now what have I done?
My reach, falling short just when you needed me
And I won't bring myself to care

Forgive me, I rely on my own knowing
And we see

That this bridge is burning
And I don't wish to smother it, but get warm
Yeah, this bridge is burning
And I don't wish to smother it, but get warm

And now what have I done?
My reach, falling short just when you needed me
And I won't bring myself to care
Forgive me, I rely on my own knowing
And we see

Lord, what have I done?
My reach, obtaining only that which could end me
So don't be caught in crossfire
Forgive me, I rely on my own knowing
And we see where it's takin' me