

Offset, James' Song

You'll sleep so sound tonight but I won't
I'm tossing and turning those thoughts up in my head
Lack decency as they keep me from my dreams

And those things you said
And those things you did
Can we hope that someday maybe you might make it back again my friend?

It won't be long
Until you're back again my friend
It won't be long
Until you're on your feet again
It won't be long

And all those things you said to piss me off
I'm sorry that it could mean
It just happens that way sometimes

All those things you said
That you never did
Can we hope that someday maybe you might make it back again my friend?

It won't be long
Until you're back again my friend
It won't be long
Until you're on your feet again
It won't be long
