

Once Tasted Life, my blackest song i've been sitting on this wall, watching the lights go out i've been waiting for your call we carved our some words we mention before we turn around and leave the room reading wishes in your eyes- th