One Direction, Wolves

I hear them calling for you I hear them calling for you

I feel the waves getting started It's a rush inside, I can't control Your eyes keep pulling me in I know, I know Your friends all talkin' 'bout me They say I got no chance at all Your fire is burning deep In my soul, my soul, my soul

I ain't up for debating In it for the taking We got the world shaking

In the middle of the night when the wolves come out Headed straight for your heart like a bullet in the dark One by one, I gotta take them down We can run and hide, ain't going down without a fight I hear them calling for you, I hear them calling In the middle of the night when the wolves come out Headed straight for your heart, they come straight for your heart I hear them calling for you, I hear them calling for you

I keep on holding tight now
Cause your body's telling me don't let go
We are gonna be starting up trouble
I know, I know, I know
Just bringing my demons out
More than ever now
Your beauty could start a war
As you walk in the door

I ain't up for debating In it for the taking We got the world shaking

In the middle of the night when the wolves come out Headed straight for your heart like a bullet in the dark One by one, I gotta take them down We can run and hide, ain't going down without a fight I hear them calling for you, I hear them calling for you In the middle of the night when the wolves come out Headed straight for your heart, they come straight for your heart I hear them calling for you

I wish it wasn't true But the whole world's tryina get a piece of you And my heart keeps fighting in this battle of fools Gotta make it through, gotta make it through

In the middle of the night when the wolves come out
Headed straight for your heart like a bullet in the dark
One by one, I gotta take them down
We can run and hide, ain't going down without a fight
I hear them calling for you, I hear them calling for you
In the middle of the night when the wolves come out
Headed straight for your heart, they come straight for your heart
I hear them calling for you, I hear them calling for you