OneRepublic, Say (All I Need)

Do you know where your heart is Do you think you can find it Did you trade it for something, somewhere Better just to have it

Do you know where your love is Do you think that you lost it You felt it so strong but nothing's Turned out how you want it

Well, bless my soul You're a lonely soul 'Cause you won't let go Of anything you hold

Well all I need is the air I breathe And a place to rest my head

Do you know what your fate is And are you trying to shake it You're doing your best dance, your best look You're praying that you'll make it

Well, bless my soul You're a lonely soul 'Cause you won't let go Of anything you hold

Well all I need is the air I breathe And a place to rest my head Said all I need is the air I breathe And a place to rest my head

Do you think you can find it Do you think you can find it Do you think you can find it Better than you have it

Do you think you can find it Do you think you can find it Do you think you can find it Better than you have it Better than you have it

Said all I need is the air I breathe And a place to rest my head Said all I need is the air I breathe And a place to rest my head

Do you know where the end is Do you think you can see it Well, until you get there, go on Go ahead and scream it, just say