

Orange Blue, Powered By Emotion

here I stand in holy land there's a light that streams my senses I see that crystal in your words and I know you'll rise to fame there you stand, the kiss you sent still lingers on my lips like a perfect lie in a church of time you're the bars of my best rhyme

I'm powered by emotion
I'm caught within your shine
I'm powered by emotion
the treasure that you saved reveals a sign

and everytime I climb that hill our melody's so plain like candy trees in fancy dreams I still refuse the grief outside the streets are fillin' up with those who hide their dreams but I realize our faith inside is far away from fear

I'm powered by emotion
I'm caught within your shine
I'm powered by emotion
the treasure that you saved
reveals a sign

these ain't the words of one who's speaking my innocence is leaking suddenly I'm down here with myself the sun is fast but in the end the day is able to defend its light until you're back here by my side

I'm powered by emotion'