

Paolo Santos, Princess

the walls of my castle speak they tell me that you're not here the heart of my kingdom weeps knowing you're nowhere near give me one more chance to prove my love is forever true but you're miles away, so far away hoping that you would stay

my princess has left me i am so empty, i'm all alone
my princess has left me
i have nobody to call my own sitting in my own room humming a lonely tune staring up at the moon wondering if you'd be home soon have i done you wrong that you went away would do anything just to make you stay thinking of you through day and night wanting to make things right