

Patrick Wolf, Wolf Song

Walk tall beneath these trees boy you monolith not scarred by fallout us wolves were right behind you and lucifer will never find you oh no!

the moon, let it guide you, when selene comes, we'll all know how to fight dear fenrir, my saviour, come and eat the ones, we know who taste the best

I know just where you've been boy, i've watched you by the stream and don't be afraid of the dark 'cos the darkness is simply a womb for the lonely swallow your pride and walk with us through the trees and hills oh yes! your english eyes they are turning red I I I I oh I I I I

the moon, let it guide you and i shall find you a home in our heartland, a heart in our homeland Until the moon is down, until the moon is down