Pearl Jam, Against The Seventies

I asked him if he knew what time he had He said he wasn't sure maybe a quarter past The kids of today should defend themselves against the seventies Appeared in his eyes as we stood in line just to have a look But the pages I found looked like an unbound coloring book The kids of today should defend themselves against the seventies (2x) It's not reality, just someone else's sentimentality... It won't work for you... Baby boomers selling you rumors of their history Forcing youth away from the truth of what's real today The kids of today should defend themselves against the seventies Stadium minds with stadium lies gotta make you laugh Garbage bandits 'gainst true defenders of the crowds The kids of today should defend themselves against the seventies (2x) It's not reality, just someone else's sentimentality... Look what it did to us... Speakin' as a child of the seventies... The kids against the seventies Kids against the seventies

The kids of today should defend themselves against the seventies (12x)
