Pierce The Veil, Chemical kids and mechanical b

Like a rush shot through you Everyone is watching you

Told you why I see no need for the sun (I've found a reason to say)
A love you light is a love soon gone If this is it
Don't bother cause this love is a lie I'm a chemical kid
You're a mechanical bride

(When every vein is red out of the blue)
I held a diamond to the sun
To count the moments on account of the way you
Smile, smile for me
(Oh, we're in slow motion when you)
Smile, smile for me

But, oh my God, I've been looking But I still hold your breath so you won't leave Pastel-red and porn star-white Ghost on the altar We breathe, don't leave

Say that the night sings alone And if there's a God Then I'm letting Him go All for you, you alone Raise my hands At the thought of you leaving me alone

What if I... what if I... What if I, I still care?

Don't torture me or beg me Can you make me believe in tiring? As you fall fast asleep, it reminds me Of the slow symphonies behind me (They sing along)

All the nightmares you'll see tomorrow All the stars on your ceiling They glow but not for you Through the trees, I'll blow
