

Po' Girl, Home To You

don't tear me up or hold me down, trust yourself enough to let me go the road, the road, the winding road, keep on winding bringing me home to you the winding road'll keep on winding, home to you, winding home to you
winding home to you

i've burned bridges like deep water doesn't exist i tried to live without 'cause i was scared of losing with i never did forget you, i just can't seem to call but i hope that you are doing well, i do wish that you were here to tell

don't tear me up or hold me down, trust yourself
enough to let me go the road, the road, the winding
road, keep on winding bringing me home to you
the winding road'll keep on winding, home to you,
winding home to you
winding home to you

dreamed or dreamer, fiction or fact it really does not matter, you can't take anything back you can't take anything back or regret the road run not dreamed or dreamer or anyone, not dreamed or dreamer or anyone

tear me up and hold me down, trust yourself enough to let me go the road, the road, the winding
road, keep on winding bringing me home to you
the winding road'll keep on winding, home to you,
winding home to you
winding home to you
winding home to you
winding home to you