Project Pitchfork, We Are One (Mirror Split Up Int

Standing and falling Running and crawling Stumbling towards the next day A numb feeling in my heart I look into your eyes And everything falls apart

You may kill me But the idea will survive The sleeper awoke already And now it's too late To put him to sleep again

I look into your eyes There is no boundary You make me realize We are one Mirror split up into pieces

We are one I look into your eyes We are one There is no boundary We are one You make me realize We are one Mirror split up into pieces

It was much easier to hide The darkness covered us Made us feel so safe A senseless fight for nothing In search of our own life