Psychotic Waltz, Need

needing, feeling alone light never seems to shine hiding under a stone now I understand that deep inside you need to make me feel something inside her she's closing the door screaming inside her smile she don't cry anymore feeling her prayer, breathing her pain dreaming her tears gone by now she's out of the rain now I understand that deep inside you need to make me feel words fly like missiles they're flying on now . . . rest your mind, rest your mind . . .

your lips destroy like missiles your whispers fly your whispers fly like missiles your lips destroy words fly like missiles they're flying on now