Ravenia, We All Died for Honor

I fall tonight beneath the broken memories of the one you once were a fighter, a soldier who lost the war

I hear your cries in everyone you left behind and we all died when silence won the fight with you

Alone we walk on the path that leads us to the ones we've become forsakened, we're the broken who lost the war

I hear your cries in everyone you left behind
and we all died when silence won the fight with you

There's nothing left to fight for there's nothing left to lose

I hear your cries in everyone you left behind
and we all died when silence won the fight with you