

Rea Garvey, Love Makes You Shine (feat. YouNotUs)

Yeah, she's got worn-out knees from begging life for love
If your heart stops beating, no, you can't give up

Through the walls I heard you call
Know you're not satisfied
You let the service boy in
Listening to the loud crowd
Down in the courtyard
Now the games begin

You thought you'd found yourself a rich one
Someone you could hit on Someone to get stitched on

Yeah, she's got worn-out knees from begging life for love
If you've never had the feeling, then life can be rough
And if your heart stops beating, no, you can't give up
Love makes you shine, shine shine shine

Love makes you shine
Love makes you shine, shine shine shine
Love makes you shine
Love makes you shine, shine shine shine

It's like you're following the cloud
Waiting for the rain, searching for the pain
Why not lie out in the sun and let your body get warm
And just start over again and again and again?

I hate to see you cry
And it hurts to see you kneel
It's okay to be you
You're perfect when you fail

Yeah, she's got worn-out knees from begging life for love
If you've never had the feeling, then life can be rough
And if your heart stops beating, no, you can't give up
Love makes you shine, shine shine shine

Love makes you shine
Love makes you shine, shine shine shine
Love makes you shine
Love makes you shine, shine shine shine

Come on
Yeah, she's got worn-out knees from begging life for love
If you've never had the feeling, then life can be rough
And if your heart stops beating, no, you can't give up
Love makes you shine, shine shine shine
Yeah
Love makes you shine
