

Real Friends, Dirty Water

If you wore your personality on your skin
No one would take a second look
You were shallow when we met and you still are
The water won't be coming down anytime soon to change that
The loneliness keeps me warm at night
And that's okay with me, I'd rather be alone in this bed made for two
Than listen to you and your judgement

Don't act like you're better than me
We're both fools lost in this cold world
You might not fall as much as I do but if I look close enough
I can find the scars on your knees, I can find the bags under your eyes
That carry too much for you to handle

I'm starting to think that you're the reason why everyone left
So stop pointing your finger
You don't even really know me, not at all
You don't even really know me

Don't act like you're better than me
We're both fools lost in this cold world
You might not fall as much as I do but if I look close enough
I can find the scars on your knees, I can find the bags under your eyes
That carry too much for you to handle

I said I'm selfish, I'm a liar and I'm broken
Shit runs through my head every day that I would never tell anyone
You're just like me
The only difference is that I'm honest enough to scream my flaws
In the lines of this song
