

Recover, Don't Ask Don't Tell

don't you get enough of me?
are you paranoid? are you scared of disease?
do you need something stronger?
do you want someone not so dumb?
i love you when you're not mine
it's hard to be honest these days when life becomes routine, i'll find a new way
i won't ask if you don't tell (even if the truth)
i won't ask if you don't tell (even if, even if)
let go, let go (you'll feel better)
let go, let go (you'll feel stronger)
i don't have to twist your arm your eyes tell me what's happened since i've been gone you don't need to say anything i wish could be innocent
you hold my breaking heart it's hard to stick around these days when life becomes routine
i won't ask if you don't tell (even if the truth)
i won't ask if you don't tell (even if, even if)
let go, let go (you'll feel better)
let go, let go (you'll feel stronger)
i don't want to know
come close, come close
i won't ask if you don't tell (even if the truth)
i won't ask if you don't tell (even if, even if)
let go, let go (you'll feel better)
let go, let go (you'll feel stronger)
i won't ask
let go, let go
let go, let go