

Red House Painters, Evil

Sad reminders of what seems years ago, warm southern sun shines through station wagon windows

Like solar energy and when in the night
your brother turned to me and said,
"God, do you look evil in the dark."
"God, do you look evil in the dark."
That made me feel good

Sad reminders of midwest winter snow
Cold Catholic church,
Heaven, in stained glass windows

Like rock candy and when on Sunday
The daughter turned at me and said,
"Mom and Dad is it a boy or a girl?"
"Mom and Dad is it a he or a she?"
That made me feel good

(Just music and some chanting till end)
