

Ride, Sunshine/Nowhere To Run

Hear the engine running as the tour bus pulls away
The sadness of the road will be the death of me one day
I'm sick and tired of my guitar and the same old songs again
And so I write a new one, that's the nature of the game

And when the party's over, I've got nowhere to run
The road goes on forever, even when we're dead and gone

Drinking in a hotel room, I hate what I've become
I'm turning back to nothing, all my dreams have come undone
The spotlight drew me over, now it's burning me away
So I'm looking for the real me, in some shadow when I play

And when the party's over, I've got nowhere to run
The road goes on forever, even when we're dead and gone

But my love, she's so fine,
She gives me the sunshine after the rain

My love, you're so fine,
You give me sunshine
When the storm is over
You give me the sunshine
My love, you're so fine,
You make my sun shine
When the storm is over
You give me the sunshine after the rain
