

Rilo Kiley, Three Hopeful Thoughts

All this talk of your sweet girlfriend is startin' to pay off and the charms that she got from travel are startin' to wear off and i heard that you smiled tonight watching the last of your friends arrive you smile and shake their hands and the hero that you hoped you'd be never seemed to show up and if i can keep on talking there won't be time to give up and i heard that i drive tonight into the last of the great sunrises i smile and wave my hand, as goodbye things don't work out by the way planned it's almost half past two and i've begun to hate the way you smile so slowly and i heard that you close your eyes and balk at the pain of a thousand wives and i heard that you died tonight just close your eyes and it goes away smile i'll get you and when you wake you're had goodbye