

Rivets, Today

I cant believe this time
The reasons you tell me, the songs that you sing
Im here to tell you the words you should say
I cant believe this time
You always forget all the things that you hear
This way you cant change anything but today
Man, you come and walk alone
And you pretend youre having fun
If you own nothing work for some
Open your eyes before its gone
I cant believe this time
You think you cant have anything but a dream
Just try not to think everybody is OK
I cant believe this time
You shout at them, spit at them, and break up their feelings
You know you cant treat anyone in this way
Man you come and walk alone
And you pretend youre having fun
If you own nothing ask for some
Open your eyes before they kick your ass
And give you less than youve always dreamed, yeah
Today, today
You should make it real today
