

Rod Stewart, Cindy Incidentally

(Ron Wood, Rod Stewart, Ian McLagan, 1973)

Oh Cindy ain't you noticed that several of your friends have moved on
And the street outside is just a little too quiet
And your local papers run out of news
I'm not persuading you or disengaging you
But Cindy you and me we got to move

Can you refuse, no time to lose
We'll hit the high road early this morning
So don't be late, don't hesitate
This dream can pass just as fast as lightning
And oh Cindy incidentally baby I ain't putting you on

Can you refuse, with () lose
We'll hit the high road early this morning
So don't be late, don't hesitate
This dream can pass just as fast as lightning

Oh Cindy don't you worry
'cause between us we can make it through There ain't nothing no no nothing in the world I can do without you So Cindy get your coat on leave the rent with the gent up in the penthouse Turn your music so loud let's attract a big crowd
We'll drink a round to this town and bid goodbye
