

Rod Stewart, One More Time

It's not the color of your hair,
Or the beauty in your eyes
That I'll be missing
Or the sunshine in your smile,
Or those ruby red lips I've been kissing
Now your family don't like me, this I understand
I don't wanna settle down I am just a rambling man
I'd rather be out rocking with my good old country band

It was great while it lasted,
And together we smashed it,
There's just one more thing to do,
I know that I can keep a secret, baby can you too?

One more time baby
One more time
One more time just for old time sake!

Now iff we have to separate
And find asomeone new
It's hard to imagine somebody else with you
You taught me jhow to nasty ion those naughty hig heel shoes
Teh evil wears Prada
We were flovers for a whil;e
But it all came crwashing down
The sex was immense
By a good old country mile
Make no mistake
You'll alays be on speed dial

It was great while it lasted,
And together we smashed it,
There's just one more thing to do,
I know that I can keep a secret, baby can you too?

One more time baby
One more time
One more time just for old time sake!

Now I hope you find what you are searching for Someone to cuddle and kiss you as you walk through the door
And honor you with children
And stay together forever
So it's bon voyage, farewell, au revoir
I'm going down to Woodstock in my beat-up Jaguar
There's no regrets or sadness,
But maybe we should've known better?

It was great while it lasted,
And together we smashed it,
There's just one more thing to do,
I know that I can keep a secret, baby can you too?

One more time baby
One more time
One more time just for old time sake!
