

Rotten Bark, Womanman

She's just a classic case of
Feministic manlike person
Good book bad look in a vintage car
Cigarette and coffee in a local bar

She's wearing man sunglasses
She's smart like kids in first classes
No boys no choice just me and myself
I don't don't take care of anybody else
Anybody else

She's so hot in the dark when she's home alone
She's a star falling down without brightness at all
Another night another day
We'd better stay away
She's so cold not so pure
What else can I say?

She's pretty like Mick Jagger,
She's got hands just like my father
Fat back wirry neck
And pixie nose
Looks like drag queen in queensize clothes

She's wearing man sunglasses
She's smart like kids in first classes
No boys no choice just me and myself
I don't don't take care of anybody else
Anybody else

She's so hot in the dark when she's home alone
She's a star falling down without brightness at all
Another night another day
We'd better stay away
She's so cold not so pure
What else can I say?

(and she's so hot)
She's so hot in the dark when she's home alone
She's a star falling down without brightness at all
Another night another day
We'd better stay away
She's so cold not so pure
What else can I say?

(and she's so hot)
She's so hot in the dark when she's home alone
(in the dark)
She's a star falling down without brightness at all
(she's a star)
Another night another day
We'd better stay away
(falling down)
She's so cold not so pure
What else can I say?
