

Roxette, Goodbye To You

Goodbye to you, goodbye to broken hearts,
goodbye to romance, hiding in the dark,
nights that leave a scar.

Goodbye to you, goodbye to empty cards,
goodbye to this ball of bliss,
I'm dancing from your arms.

And I fill the bedroom with silent visions of rain.
And I paint the morning with echoes from pleasure in pain.
I don't want to touch emotions, I just got to run away.
Electric blue like oceans, wild like lovers sway.

Goodbye to you...

And I seal the pillow and shatter dreams down the hall.
And I hang the heartache like pictures on the wall.
Can you hear the sound of angels they're playing hurting games?
Well, I'm a stranger when I'm leaving, I was a stranger when I came.

Goodbye to you...