

Roy Orbison, 22 Days

(Pitney)

Oh it's been 22 lonely blue days without a word from you and 44 million more tears I've cried since you walked through that door
The sun never reaches my doorstep each empty day seems to be the same You've broken your vow but I still love you now, oh this love of mine is a one way losing game

And it's been 22 lonely blue days without a word from you and 44 million more tears I've cried since you walked through that door
The dreams that we share are gone forever but I still have a little hope in my heart Is this the way it ends? Are we to be both friends? Oh I can't go on if we're to be apart

And it's been 22 lonely blue days without a word from you
and 44 million more tears I've cried since you walked through that door

yeah 22 days since you walked through that door ah 22 days since you walked through that door
yeah 22 days since you walked through that door mmmm 22 days since you walked through that door