Roy Orbison, Lillian

They criticise me for loving you, for seeing you Giving no reason, they don't know you Lillian Be a mystic figure, shed your feelings from within Let it go unnoticed where you've been Lillian

So take from me what I have to give For I have taken from you The crystal world in which you live Shall fall and tumble too

Let me see, set you free From the life you live You have shared, Lillian

I know not why you want me But I know why I want you I don't need a reason It's just you, Lillian

So take from me what I have to give For I have taken from you The crystal world in which you live Shall fall and tumble too

And let you see, set you free From the life you live You have shared, Lillian Lillian, Lillian
