

Roy Orbison, Turn Some More Lights On

Turn some more, turn some more
Turn some more lights on
Turn some more, turn some more
Turn some more lights on

I came by your house last night
I was feeling so blue
We didn't have a date
I was lonely for you

I walked all the way
To break my heart in two
I saw the lights turned way down low
Oh, someone else was kissing you

Turn some more, turn some more
Turn some more lights on
Turn them all, turn them all

Turn them all back on
Make him leave, make him leave
Make him leave, leave you alone

I'm standing in the rain
See you there with him
Oh there's so much pain
See the lights so dim

I see you smile that same old smile
In that same old way
But you smiled, you smiled, you smiled at me
Oh yesterday, yesterday

Turn some more, turn some more
Turn some more lights on
Turn them all, turn them all
Turn them all back on...
