

Salamandra, The End / Freedom's Won Back

Hope that break of day
Has driven away
The way this land had lived by now
Praise that lovely day
Pride is here to stay
And cheer up spirits of our minds

One clash of sword lit castle
And all the town in shine
The evil and its servants
Shall not hide from
Tremendous anger of men
Who have been fortified
By fights and bloody battles
Now stand up and fight

Dark powers are now helpless
Cannot face the pride and light
They will not resist the nation's Decision
To win back all the glory
Of people brave and bright
Back is the legendary
Fair kingdom

This army is winning, defeating past lords
The guardians are winning us back what seemed lost

By the break of day
Evil has run away
From all the resolute ones
Praise that lovely day
Pride is here to stay
And cheer up spirits of our minds

One clash of sword lit castle
And all the town in shine
The evil and its servants
Shall not hide from
Tremendous anger of men
Who had been fortified
By fights and bloody battles

By the break of day
Evil has run away
From all the resolute ones
Praise that lovely day
Pride is here to stay
And cheer up spirits of our minds

This army is winning, defeating past lords
The guardians are winning us back what seemed lost
This kingdom has risen from ashes and dark
Our kingdom has risen to freedom and life

By the break of day
Evil has run away
From all the resolute ones
Praise that lovely day
Pride is here to stay
And cheer up spirits of our minds

By the break of day
Evil has run away

From all the resolute ones
Praise that lovely day
Pride is here to stay
And cheer our minds