

Sarah McLachlan, MONSTERS

When we were young there were always creatures lurking under the bed A thousand year old dragon lived deep in the lake and he said don't be afraid So you dove in

He seemed so sweet and lovely he made you laugh and made you forget about the rain Showed you new tricks on guitar hidden talents that erases the pain

And don't you know that there's a wolf stalking in sheep's clothing tells me he's the real thing Think what your life would be missing
if you didn't have him to sing
To sing about

Three headed monsters they want your money wanna be in the picture be your friend
They fill your pool with alligators are they all just jokers or are they cruel

They light up when they see you like there's no where else that they'd rather be than by your side
Then they promise you the stars but they're really just along for the ride

And don't you know that there's a wolf stalking in sheep's
clothing tells me he's the real thing
Think what your life would be missing
if you didn't have him to sing
To sing about

Is it the sparkle in their eyes or the knowledge of the ways of the world
The way they kiss the way they hold you has made you blind to the fangs and the fire

There's a wolf stalking in sheep's clothing tells me he's the real thing
Think what your life would be missing
if you didn't have him to sing
To sing about
