

Saxon, Warrior

They land on your shore
Kick down your door
Invaders from over the sea

They rape and they slaughter
Your wives and your daughter
Pillage the wealth from your land

Where do they come from
These warrior hordes
With their death and destruction to you

They come with the thunder
They kill and they plunder
Pillage the wealth from your land

So build your defenses
Against the invader
The terror from over the sea

Warrior came (*)
Warrior saw
Warrior conquered
Warrior came
Warrior saw
Warrior conquered

A village is peaceful
No sign of danger
People at work in the fields

Then they hit you like lightning
Stealing and fighting
Driving you down in the weeds

Over the border
The raiding marauder
Gathers his wealth to the sea

So you bury your dead
Put out the fires
And the death will be back with the tide

So build your defenses
Against the invader
The terror from over the sea

(Repeat *)

They land on your shore
Kick down your door
Invaders from over the sea

They rape and they slaughter
Your wives and your daughter
Pillage the wealth from your land

Where do they come from
These warrior hordes
With their death and destruction to you

They come with the thunder
To steal and to plunder
Spilling your blood on the ground

So build your defenses
Against the invader
The terror from over the sea

(Repeat * twice)