

September, Flowers on the Grave

Remember what I told you
Your face won't let you hide the pain
You let me get to know you
And now it's driving me insane

Baby, we were never soldiers
You and me couldn't never fight for things we don't believe

And we will never, never ever be the same
Since we buried love we swore
would never end
So now I'm laying down
the flowers on the grave
And we will never, never ever be the same

Just hold me till tomorrow
You don't have to say a thing
I know about the sorrow
That the morning light will bring

Baby, we were getting colder
You and me couldn't never never lie
'cause feelings don't deceive

And we will never, never ever be the same
would never end
So now I'm laying down
the flowers on the grave
And we will never, never be the same
