September When, Mortal

All my life I have been waiting for this moment to arrive I am speeding up the tempo inside (fly high) I doubt that the circles that I'm moving in are something I could ever get out of alive (I love to say that) I can feel that it starts burning I got my fingers between like a shock the torture gets to my face tip-top you must go out you must go out I have decided for your joy Chorus: No easy coming, open my eyes I can see everything is mortal No easy going, I realise I can see everything and that everything is mortal All my life I have been waiting for this it keeps me from sleeping (allright) I doubt that the circles that I'm moving in are something I could ever get out of alive Yeah! Chorus
