

Sevendust, Burned Out

Stick around to see the ugly look on my face
You always come around - when my will is broken
And I can barely stand on my two feet
Was it something, I said - that you can't forget
But you know it's something you need - to make it
All work out - But the fact still remains that
You can never take back what you say - But I take back everything

I feel so empty - why'd you do this now
When all the color left in my face is Fading out
I won't ride that evil suicide wave
No matter what you hear me say

[CHORUS:]
Why does it feel
Like the sun is just burned out
Why does it feel
Like everyone waiting for us
To crumble and just break down

Where's that helping hand
That you pull away
Everything I'm in the back of the line
If I start to fall out - on the last mile
Just wash the blood off my face

I feel so empty - why'd you do this now
The viscous circle of life - tears me up all inside
