Shelby Lynne, Johnny Met June

(Shelby Lynne)

Got some news today from the radio man He spoke the words softly and as somber as he can The world stood still and the sky opened up made my way to fill up my coffee cup. Then it occurred to me as the daylight sky shone blue Today's the day that Johnny met June.

He waited a while he knew that he would He was gonna hang around here for as long a he could The days went by and hours idle passed He was never sure just how long he would last But there's not much love in a lonely room Today's the day that Johnny met June

Hey my darlin' hey my sweet I've waited on the day that I knew we would meet. Hey my sun, hey my moon Today's the day that Johnny met June.

Now were starting over it's the place that we are You look more than pretty underneath all the stars Love, love is a burning thing Oh how I still love to hear you sing And everything we ever heard about heaven is true Today's the day that Johnny met June Today's the day that Johnny met June.
