

Sheryl Crow, Try Not To Remember

try to erase
the smell of freedom and every face
that happened to meet mine

what still remains something unrelenting i'll say the names of those I left behind

chorus:
in the still of the night
do you laugh do you cry
do you try not to remember?
if its a question of fate
do you love do you hate
do you try not to remember?

i see your eyes
in my own reflection
these broken skys
begin begin to mend

we are the same
fighting for something whats left to gain?
theres no means to an end

chorus:
in the still of the night
do you laugh do you cry
do you try not to remember?
if its a question of fate
do you love to you hate
do you try not to remember?