

Simple Plan, One By One

One by One

I remember wasting time

Watching as the planes fly by

I remember hearing the engines echoing through the sky

And they used to say

That someday you'll forget it

You won't hear them

And they used to say

That time goes by

That nothing changes

CHORUS

I won't miss my flight again

I'm not where I belong

So give me just one chance

And one by one I'll prove you wrong

One by one I'll prove you wrong

I remember every night

Sitting by the runway side

I remember waiting for a reason to say goodbye

And they used to say

That someday you'll forget it

You won't hear them

And they used to say

The day goes by but you can't change it

CHORUS

Sometimes I think I've been wrong

But this is the place that I think I belong

And everytime I speak my mind I'm leaving you behind and I won't miss my flight again

I'm not where I belong

So give me just one chance

And one by one I'll prove you wrong

I won't miss my flight again

I'm not where I belong

So give me just one chance

And one by one I'll prove you wrong

one by one I'll prove you wrong

one by one I'll prove you wrong

one by one I'll prove you wrong