

Sirenia, Earendel

I count the stars on a bleak midwinter sky
I watch them twinkle, shine, wane and die
But there's a star shining brighter than them all
A star that lingers when all the others fall

Shine for me my morningstar
I treasure thee from afar
Rise and shine, never decline, my divine
Arise wherever you are

I count the scars deep within our souls
I count the hearts you broke and the dreams you sold
But there's a hope transcending them all
A hope that lingers when all the others fall

Shine for me my morningstar
I treasure thee from afar
Rise and shine, never decline, my divine
Arise wherever you are

Sirius... pass all your light on to us
Earendel... you are our wishing well
Zorya... radiant diamonds above
Venus... forever guide us

Shine for me my morningstar
I treasure thee from afar
Rise and shine, never decline, my divine
Arise wherever you are x2