

Skeeter Davis, Fuel To The Flame

You kindle the fire of love inside me each time our lips meet
I'm not strong when we're alone your kisses make me weak
You must know how I feel but do you feel the same
Every time you kiss me you add fuel to the flame
My eyes light up when I see you I burn with desire
Each time you're near you say you care but still I'm not sure
Please don't ask me to love you if you're not going to change my name
Cause every time you kiss me you add fuel to the flame
This fire of love you started inside of me has reached my very soul
You're adding fuel to a flame that's already burning out of control
When you give me your name I'll give you everything
Yes everytime you kiss me you add fuel to the flame
