SkeleToon, Dreamland

Suddenly we cry for this life that's getting over For our time can't be repaid again But suddenly night comes bringing wisdom as a cover Now you're welcome to your soul

I won't feel the pain, dreams are always fair

Unfold your blind soul, your dreams will guide you on Your dreams will fail no more I will trust till the end of my time My deepest dreams inside

It's only during nights that your soul is shining over Secrets fight to find your eyes again It's only a matter of time you realize they're getting over Well you better let them go

Unfold your blind soul, your dreams will guide you on Your dreams will fail no more I will trust till the end of my time My deepest dreams inside

And only when your dream goes towards an end You wake up and know That you won't be feeling alone 'Cause your dream will take you home