

Slipknot, Unsainted

I'll never kill myself to save my soul
I was gone but now I was know?
I didn't come this far to sink so low I'm finally holding on to letting go i;m just weathering a rough patch another villain with an itch to scratch denial is the darkest when you live in a hole who does the hell make you feel so cold? make a move and you pay for it pick a lord and you pray to it you're so demanding when you want the truth bur your stories don't read for me

I'll never kill myself to save my soul
I was gone but now I was know?
I didn't come this far to sink so low
I'm finally holding on to letting go indecision overload keep a buckle on the devil and your eyes on the road reaching out for the hand of God but did you think you'd shake your own?

this killing fields is all grow over the motherfucker wants it wild go sew your oats in alphabetical order the anti-antagonist is back in style
..?..
you got lie if you want to believe

I'll never kill myself to save my soul
I was gone but now I was know?
I didn't come this far to sink so low
I'm finally holding on to letting go did you think you could win and fill me in?

did you think you could do it again?
'm not your sin
I was all that you wanted and more but you didn't want me I was more than you thought I could be so I am setting you free I am setting you free you've killed the saint in me how dare you martyr me

you've killed the saint in me

I'll never kill myself to save my soul
I was gone but now I was know?
I didn't come this far to sink so low
I'm finally holding on to letting go

you've killed the saint in me
how dare you martyr me
you've killed the saint in me
how dare you martyr me