

Snowy White, Can't Find Love

And now I find myself alone
I watch the tide come in and the sun go down
I've felt the sweetness of a woman's love
But I ain't got that no more

In my time, I've done most things a man should do
I've had my share of luck, both good and bad
I've felt the pain of losing a friend
Now I ain't got one no more
I ain't got one no more

I can't find love
I can't find love
There must be someone needs a man like me
Still I can't find love

In this time, I've known sadness of defeat
The anger of a man who's not yet complete
I just need the softness of a woman's touch
But I can't find that no more
I cant' find it no more

I can't find love
I can't find love
There must be someone needs a man like me
Still I can't find love

And Now I'm lying here
I watch the stars come out and the moon look down
I need the sweetness of a woman's love

Aaahh yeah
