

So Many Dynamos, In Every Direction

Everywhere you look, in every direction.
It's desolate now, It's creeping me out,
It's everywhere you look.
In every direction, there's needles in the air.
There's one eye aware in every sleeping head,
Everywhere you look.

A year ago today,
When all we had to fear
Were planes and trains
and autotuners in every direction.

Now "don't go out tonight"
Is painted on every wall and sign
In every color that their hands could find;
It's everywhere you look.

Sirens are gone, silence is on
In every direction.

Everywhere you look,
There're shadows getting taller.
In every direction,
They're coming for us now.
Everywhere you look,
There's voices getting louder.
In every direction,
They are coming for us now.

Sirens are gone, silence is on
In every direction.

Flashlights, searchlights,
Daylight's running dry.
Flashlights, searchlights
In the sky.