

Something Corporate, The Astronaut

i've been sleeping with ghosts i've been watching stars crawling out of the sky and i've been hoping i'm close to the space man movies i call my life and i've been climbing ladders through time i've got tunnel vision but i'm doing fine and i've been watching stars coming off of the wall and maybe if i'm lucky i can catch them before you fall

and you are not alone

calling out to the astronaut i need some of what you've got
i need to be high crawling out of the world she brought

and i've been holding this microphone and i've been shouting out but i think we're alone and i've got platinum vision and a tin foil touch i've got you to propel me but i still need so much not to be alone

i need to be high

you are not alone

i need to be high
disappear in the world she brought

and i've got you to propel me
