

Sophie B. Hawkins, Miles Away

Father, she's playing our song, but I don't wanna dance tonight
You had to slip away, and I'm caught inside the cage again
I'm damned if I do and I'm damned if I don't, 'cause I don't wanna fight
I wish I was miles away, not feeling anything
You taught me to hide while I'm frightened of my life
You taught me to smile while I'm crying inside
And I'm black and I'm blue and I'm wondering where are you
I wish I was there too..
With you miles away, not feeling anything
You and I again, gliding the wings on end
Father I'm slipping away and I don't only wanna feel my life reigning inside my heart, tearing nobody's world apart
And if I fall, let me fall in your arms
And if I die, let me take you along
Nobody will rescue me, they don't know I'm gone
Tonight the see is black and calm
And I am miles away, not feeling anything
You and I again, gliding the wings on end
I'm miles away, not feeling anything
You and I again, gliding the wings on end
