Sophie Ellis-Bextor, Leave The Others Alone

Black and gold A safe combination Heaviness sets the seed for the next generation You say we're so alike Well, I wouldn't want to live On the difference No, I wouldn't want to live On the difference Sitting down at 10.000 feet Nothing's artificial It shouldn't be a word I live on my dreams Well, I'd never do anything to make them happen No, I'd never do anything to make them happen Suddenly I'm forced to think and make the right decision I'm on the brink You've put me in a position I'll tell you what I'll give you me If you leave the others alone Canvas cracks Face unrecognisable Eyes have a stony gaze Moving's not advisable I know who you are so, I don't feel the need to make conversation No, I don't feel the need to make conversation Suddenly I'm forced to think and make the right decision I'm on the brink You've put me in a position I'll tell you what I'll give you me if you leave the others alone Leave the others alone