

Souldium, About You

Night falls on my worst hell
My mind
My sanity isn't well
You're gone and friends are here to pray
While I wipe my tears away
Sorry about your loss
They console
But all that mattered is lost
You're gone
And friends are here to pray
While I'm crying out to heaven
Just to hear your name again
I can't believe that this could be the end
I need to feel your touch
Missing you so much
But I remember everything
I won't forget a single thing
About you
Staring up at the sky
2 weeks
Is like 5 years passing
Rising sun, breaks a brand new day
While I wipe the tears from yesterday away
Sometimes I hear you call
I turn but nothings there at all
Your gone with so much left to say
Can you hear it there from heaven
As I cry your name again
I can't believe that this could be the end
I need to feel your touch missing you so much
But I remember everything
I won't forget a single thing
People saying
Just give it time
And everything will work out and be fine
But they don't know no
Can't understand
I'd damnify my soul to turn back time
And make you mine
Again
Just to hear your name again
I can't believe that this could be the end
I need to feel your touch
Missing you so much
And I remember everything
I won't forget a single thing
About you