Spoon, Back To The Life

Son you must go back to the life go pack your bags take up your scythe cause this world wasnt meant for us both who made the night who made the day who gave you life who gave you say i said this world wasnt meant for us both who rules the day who rules the night go pack your bags take up your scythe i said this world wasnt meant for us both

I took a river and it wouldnt let go i want you to stay and i want you to go i took a river and the river was long and it goes on i want to be there tonight i want to get there but its just out of sight i took a river and felt so slight so hold on so hold on n hold on it goes on i took a river and the river was long i want you to stay course i want you to go i took a river and the river was long and goes on it goes on ooh it goes on it goes on
